Why Chess?

Based on multiple studies, it has been found that playing the game of Chess on a regular basis right from childhood improves the learning, thinking, analytical power and decision-making ability of a child.

Chess teaches the child learn how to strategize aspects of the game and life. In addition, a child can also learn the importance of foresight, and planning. Chess has been found to improve memory skills as well as concentration and academic performance.

Chess also builds self-confidence and self-discipline. It teaches the child that they can achieve their goals if they plan ahead and understand the consequences of each action they take.
